Looking forward to Remembrance & Christmas

When I wrote the last of these letters, in early August, there was still some summer left. I hope you all enjoyed it. Now, in October, we begin to think of winter. The last two months of the year are a busy time for churches. I would like to think that some of our readers might be able to attend at least one of the services and other events which are on offer in our Three In One Parish. Our thoughts and prayers are focused on the coming of the Christ Child on Christmas Day, and the long preparations leading up to it. These begin in November, thought of as the month of Remembrance, beginning with All Saints Day (1st) and All Souls Day (2nd). And of course of Remembrance Sunday (this year 10th.)

At All Saints and All Souls we are reminded of those, some of whose names are recalled centuries after their lifetimes because they were very significant Christians, as teachers, as thinkers and writers, as faithful bishops and priests, and often because they were martyrs, dying for their faith. And at All Souls they are joined by memories of, if they are recent, and thanksgivings if they are beyond today's recollections, of those many people who have worshipped God faithfully in these churches and are now forgotten.

I have the privilege of conducting worship in three historic buildings, and as I do so I sometimes think of the many priests who will have stood where I am standing and spoken to their congregations just as I do. And I think of those generations of people who have worshipped here over the centuries, first as Roman Catholics, and then from the sixteenth century as members of the Church of England. We are the inheritors of an ancient tradition, but there is no guarantee that it will go on for ever. It needs support today and in the future. Please use your church for Sunday worship, for christenings weddings and funerals, or just as a place to seek some peace and quiet and possibly, in whatever way is best for you, to come closer to God and come to something over the two months covered by this publication!

May I wish you a joyful Christmas and a happy and blessed New Year.

ROY ALLEN

Curdworth Women's Guild

September Meeting:

Our speaker for the afternoon was Sheila Pennell an education volunteer with Cats Protection and Team Cat Rescue for several years. Sheila outlined the history of the charity and the way in which cats should be cared for. Some of the members who were owners of cats knew the right answers to the 'what do you know about cats' quiz by Sheila, which was followed by members asking questions. Sheila finished the presentation with posters showing all the ways that cats show their love for their humans – including the way they greet us with their tails up, blink slowly, and roll over to show their tummies to prove they trust us. Everyone enjoyed a very entertaining and informative talk.

October Meeting:

This was a poetry afternoon when the ladies brought along a variety of poems to read and talk about, some humorous, some thought provoking. These afternoons are always extremely enjoyable and often introduce members to poems they have never come across before.

The next meeting is on November 20th 'Tale of the Dancers' Donald McCombie with guitar

This is the story of the WW1 Christmas Truce with a unique blend of music written by Donald. He is back by request as his last visit made a great impression. We would urge you to join us for this musical afternoon. Everyone is welcome.

There will be no meeting in December as the ladies will be holding their Christmas lunch at the Cottage Inn, Fillongley.

Troop Aid: A final sum of £370 was handed to the charity who were very grateful for everyone's efforts. Thank you to everyone who supported us on this.

St.Nicholas Church will once again be floodlit from the end of October

'Middleton Musings'

Harvest is the transition from Summer to Autumn and as I look out of my window the leaves are changing colour. In our rural communities, harvest still takes on extra significance. I would also like to thank the Curdworth young people who led the Harvest service so well giving us a new insight into Harvest Festivals. Change is relentless, sometimes for good and sometimes for bad. The seasons bring the changes our planet needs to survive, and we too need to play our part as stewards of all that God has created.

November is a month for remembering. It starts with bonfire night; Remember, Remember the 5th of November... Another time our country had deep political divisions that turned into an attempted violent attack on parliament and the king. This is closely followed by Armistice day and Remembrance Sunday as we consider the two World Wars, remembering the sacrifice of many young lives trying to defend our freedoms. This remembrance is a good opportunity to seek to be peacemakers in our troubled world. Wherever relationships turn sour, peacemakers are needed. We can provide positive examples and encourage others as well as lobbying MPs and local government to work towards peace.

"May they rest in peace" is often used in prayers for those who have died and certainly the vision of the new heaven and new earth from the book of Revelation is that God shall "wipe away all tears from their eyes, there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, nor any more pain." Death and bereavement are a painful experience. It takes time to heal the wounds caused. Even with the powerful promises we read in the Bible, that Christ has destroyed death, it is difficult. On 17th November the evening service at Middleton is held for All Souls a chance to remember those who have died. We especially welcome the families of those who have died this year, but it also gives us a chance to reflect on those who have shaped our lives, but who are no longer with us.

December marks the start of Advent, which is the period in the church year when we look forward to the second coming of Jesus when he will return to claim his kingdom. It is a time of waiting, of preparation, prayer and listening to God.

As the secular Christmas season seems to start earlier and earlier, it becomes more difficult to observe Advent, but I encourage you to take the time and use it wisely. Returning to the creation theme try pondering the various bulbs waiting in the earth before they bring forth their colourful flowers; Snowdrops, crocuses hyacinths and tulips will be waiting to bloom. May the same be true of our three churches as we look forward to 2020. Andrew Farrow

Thank you : Harvest Produce

Eric Dance collected up all Harvest donations and delivered them to the Erdington Foodbank. The photo shows Eric handing it over to Jean Morton who took delivery of 3 trays and 2 trolleys of donated food and other items which will be an enormous help to them in continuing their work in providing emergency food supplies to families and individuals who find themselves in difficult circumstances.

Huge thanks are due to the people of Curdworth and Wishaw for their thoughtful and caring donations during Harvest Festival.

You are invited to a Puddings Evening hosted by

St Chad's Church, Wishaw to be held at Wishaw Golf Club
on Saturday 8th February 2020
7.30pm

Bar Raffle Entertainment

Please bring a pudding!
You don't have to eat your own!!

Tickets £5.00 available from Pat Turner or Margaret Allen

Thank you!

To everyone who came to our Harvest Services, to those who led the services and those who decorated the churches so beautifully. A particular mention should go to the members of the Alpha Club who assisted Andrew Farrow in leading the service at St Nicholas' Church and who did a fine job!

In addition, thank you to everyone involved in any way with the Harvest Supper. This was a very convivial evening with entertainment from the Children's Choir, the Wishaw Community Coffee morning bell ringers and the tower bell ringers who rang hand bells. Many thanks to Brenda, Annette and their team for the delicious homemade soups and desserts which everyone enjoyed very much. Their hard work certainly paid off. Thank you to everyone who bought tickets for the evening and supported the raffle and the treasure hunt.

We are delighted to report that the evening raised £502. Thank you all.

Talent Scheme News

Huge congratulations to Daniel Biddle and Amy Yates who organised an 11km sponsored run as their talent. They were so well organised that they managed to do the run on the last sunny day before the weather broke! Many thanks to the mums who ran with them and their other supporters.

They raised the magnificent sum of 285.30.

Hannah Craven has also raised over £30 with her first cake sale at school. Well done to Hannah and her helpers!

Eva Biddle and Amy Yates are organising a film night at Curdworth Church Hall on Sunday 8th December at 6:00pm. The film is 'Home Alone' and they will be selling refreshments. Tickets £3.00 on the door. Adults can sit on chairs, kids can bring their own cushions / pillows!

Christmas decorations to order - Maureen Briggs is making beautiful, eco-friendly table decorations and wreaths from recycled items. Minimum donation of £5.00. Contact Maureen on 01675 470342.

Enjoy a meal and a chat! Maureen and Tony are also offering to cook a meal for a maximum of four guests. Contact Maureen on 01675 470342.

There are lots of other events in the pipeline. Look out for news in the next issue of this magazine, in the weekly Church notices and on posters displayed around the villages. If you have not had your £5.00 envelope yet do ask Margaret Allen for one. Ideas can be as big or small as you want, from offering babysitting services, to running a raffle, to making and selling cards. The Talent Scheme ends on Shrove Tuesday, 25th February 2020 with a pancake party,

Poetry Group

To begin this month I thought it might be good to introduce readers to some of the more accessible and available books of poems that have been published in recent years that I have on my shelves and which are also readily available from “Oxfam”, “British heart foundation” and other second hand shops. Any that I have, I will be happy to lend to people who live in the parish.

The “Everyman’s Poetry” series of paper back books are a useful and cheap way of reading a selection of the most well known of a particular poet’s output. For example I am holding my copy of William Blake’s poems of “Everyman’s”; number 3 in the series of over 60 books. All the books include a most helpful “Chronology” of the poet’s life at the front, including the significant contemporary events. In Blake’s case the French revolution being the most significant, and includes “Trafalgar” and “Waterloo”. It also gives the dates of the other famous poets whose lives overlapped that of Blake.

Other poetry books are “compilations” of poems of various types. Some are one poet’s selection of his or her best liked poems perhaps giving reasons for the selection of each poem. I have mentioned before that Trevor MacDonald's book of “favourite Poems” is the best I have found in this “genre”. He selected these poems for publication in the Daily Telegraph originally but they have been collected together in hardback and paperback by Michael O'Hara Books. Trevor’s introductory notes for each poet are brief but informative, and there are 2 or 3 poems for each poet.

One other similar type of selection is of those compiled in the name of a well known person/poet and put together with a painting or photograph relevant to the poem on the facing page. The poems and pictures are then put together in beautifully compiled and bound books; on “chinagraph” paper. I have 4 of these compilations and they are a joy to behold because of the exquisite presentation.

One of these is of 100 poems plus 16 paintings compiled by Laurence Cotterill (One time chair of the "Poetry Society" and son of a Lancer) look him up he had an interesting life. Opposite Yeats' poem "When you are old" is a painting "Les Adieux" by Tissot; and beside Wilfred Owen's "Anthem for Doomed Youth" is Munch's "The Scream". There are two compilations of "the nation's favourite poems" as voted by the "listening public". One by the BBC (commended by Griff Rees Jones), and two compiled by Mike Read when he was a DJ in the early days of Classic FM radio, the first in 1997; the other "favourite humorous" poems twelve months later. The Mike Read books are better than the BBC because he includes biographical notes about the poets. Of the two general books, the first 5 or 6 poems are the same although not in the same order; Kipling's "If" is always 1st or second. The Lady of Shallot, (Tennyson) The listeners (Walter De la mare) and Wordsworth's Daffodils.

The next Poetry group meeting will be on Thursday 14th November at 7.30p.m. in the church hall. Cheese, wine and soft drinks included. The group will however NOT meet in December or January. The first evening in the new year will be February 13th.

Finally another of Blake's quotes from his "Auguries of Innocence"
"To see a world in a grain of sand
And a heaven in a Wild Flower,
To hold infinity in the palm of your hand
And Eternity in an hour".

Curdworth Primary School Harvest Service

It was lovely to welcome the staff and children from Curdworth Primary School to St Nicholas' Church on 2nd October. Year 5 and 6 children led the service with great energy and the harvest songs were sung by everyone very enthusiastically. They all gave thanks for the harvest and remembered those whose harvest failed and those who do not have enough food to eat each day.

The Vacancy

The Churchwardens are pleased to be able to say that our Parish Profile is now with the Bishop of Birmingham. It is the Bishop's intention to appoint a new full time Vicar to our Parish. The advertisement will be in the national church press shortly and the timetable for the interview process will be published soon after. Thank you for your continued support of our three churches. We want to welcome our new Vicar to churches with people in them.

Christmas Gift Day

St Chad's Church, Wishaw invites you to visit the church on Saturday 21st December between 11.00am and 2.00pm for our

"My Christmas Gift to my Church" Day

Rev Roy Allen will be there to say a seasonal prayer
Coffee, tea, mulled wine, mince pies and shortbread will be served.

Gift envelopes will be available in church.

Thank you : To those of you who have kindly donated to St.Nicholas flower fund over the past few months. If you wish, our ladies can arrange flowers in the Church for you to mark a special occasion or date, for a donation of £10.00. All donations to Sandra Bullivant. Thank you from all of us for the lovely Harvest arrangements, the Church looked very festive.

Thank you : To all the Ladies at Wishaw who provide and arrange the flowers there and who made Harvest Festival special. Thank you too to those who work hard to keep the Church clean, we are very grateful.

Thank you : To Michael Watts and Paul Archer for enabling us to look after Wishaw Churchyard. Country Churchyards are not an easy place to keep tidy so their help is much appreciated.

Jan Weatherley

We would like to express our sympathy to Mark, Sam and Josh on the sad loss of Jan. A retired teacher and member of St.Nicholas choir, she was enjoying her retirement and becoming involved in new challenges such as the Tame Valley Wetlands Group and organising the defibrillator group in the village. Her illness was short and devastating and our thoughts and prayers go out to all her family.

Thank you to everyone who has contributed to this issue. The deadline for the Jan/Feb issue will be the 15th December.

Have a Happy and Peaceful Christmas and New Year. See you in 2020!

Sue

and finally.....
